KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Jeff. Davis Makes Another Characteristic Speech.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY AT CHICAGO

Fred Douglass Says a Kind Word for President Cleveland—Discouraging Statements About the Panama Canal—Etc.

MACON, GA., May 2.—Davis passed through [illegible] Macon to-day on his way to the centennial at Savannah. He was met at the depot by a tremendous crowd and was tendered an elegant ovation. From the balcony of the depot he said: "Friends [illegible] countrymen, ladies and gentlemen: This visit to Macon brings up tender and priceless thoughts around which cling memories of the closing struggle and hours of the Confederacy. When the [illegible] and when my wife and sick infant son [illegible] it was here where that grand old man Howell Cobb served my wife, who was disconsolate and persecuted because she was the wife of one who tried to do his duty by his countrymen. It was here that one good Yankee allowed us to come to Macon and give us quarters. This sick infant has grown into a tall woman." Here Miss Winnie came forward [illegible] received a shout of applause. With his arm around her, Mr. Davis continued: "This is my daughter, child of the Confederacy [illegible] the last year of the war, and [illegible] in the fact that she was born in the Southern Confederacy. (Applause.) Georgia has been redeemed from the oppression [illegible] in the days of reconstruction. In this as in the great struggle, you have shown the right fortitude and at last your [illegible] have been crowned [illegible] marching forward to prosperity. [illegible] may God bless you. My heart is always warm to you. You are Confederates and I love you for it. [Applause.] Mississippi [illegible] the daughter of Georgia and I am the son of a Georgian. Again [illegible] may God bless Georgia [illegible] her people."

FORAKER [illegible] DAVIS.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 2.—The speech of Governor Foraker at the state encampment at Cleveland [illegible] members of the Grand Army of the Republic [illegible] a great deal of comment around the capital to-day. In speaking of the reception tendered to Davis at Montgomery, Alabama and the unusual statements which were made on that occasion the governor said: "If the spirit of liberty is not dead in the South neither is it dead in the North. Whatever his actions may represent, this man Jeff Davis, who talks about liberty, represents only human slavery, degradation of labor, treason of secession and rebellion, the horrors and infamies of Libby and Andersonville—all in short that is most malicious, vicious and damnable in American history. To talk of him as an illustrious statesman who is to be honored with Washington in history is to insult every sentiment of loyalty and decency in this great country which he wickedly did so much to destroy."

SENATOR SHERMAN AND JEFF DAVIS.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Washington special: Senator Sherman said that he was cutting out of the newspapers the speeches of Jeff Davis and descriptions of the demonstrations in the South over him and putting them where they would be handy for use in the next campaign. "As for Davis," said Sherman, "he is a monumental fool—a vain and disappointed old man posing as a martyr, grieving over his failure and appealing for sympathy. What he says is of no particular consequence, but the significant part of it all lies in the manner in which his words are received by the people."

Democratic congressmen are swearing at Davis and his menagerie. There have been a number of telegrams of remonstrance sent to Gen. Gordon and he has been begged to suppress Davis or at least to steer him off upon some other topics than those he has been discussing.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY

A Father Accidentally Shoots His Son and Commits Suicide.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Alexander Ribbola, an Italian 62 years of age living at 13 Butterfield street, became engaged in a quarrel this morning with John Hipsman, a German, neither 60 years of age. The two old men soon came together, Hipsman with a pitchfork and Ribbola with a revolver. The latter fired an ineffectual shot when Hipsman dropped the pitchfork and grappled with him to obtain the revolver. While the two old men were struggling a neighbor called out to Ribbola's sons that Hipsman was killing their father. The boys hastily rushed out and Felix [illegible] sprang between the two combatants. As he did so a shot was fired and Felix sank to the ground. Hipsman then ran away. Ribbola fired two shots at him without effect, and then turned and saw his [illegible] dying on the ground. With a wild cry of "My God, I've shot my boy!" he raised his son and called upon him to speak. Receiving no answer and maddened by grief he left the prostrate form and rushed into the house. He entered his room, threw himself on the bed, placed the muzzle of the revolver in his mouth and with the last remaining shot killed himself instantly. The wounded boy is shot through the lung and cannot survive. The Ribbola family was one of the oldest, best and most favorably known Italian families in Chicago.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS

FRED DOUGLASS PRAISES CLEVELAND.

BOSTON, May 1.—Frederick Douglass has written a letter to Hon. F. W. Bird which has been published and in which he says: "I am a republican and did all I could to defeat the election of Cleveland. He was under no political obligation whatever, yet I held the office of recorder nearly a whole year under his administration, an office by law held not for any term but solely at the pleasure of the president. While in office President Cleveland treated me as he treated other office holders in the district. He was brave enough to invite Mrs. Douglass and myself to all his grand receptions, thus rebuking the timidity—I will not say cowardice or prejudice—of his predecessor. I am a republican, and if living, shall do all I can to elect a republican in 1888, but I honor manliness wherever I find it, and I found it in President Cleveland and I should despise myself if I should let anybody think otherwise. Whatever else he may be, he is not a snob and a coward."

A [illegible] DEMAND.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Tribune's New Bedford special: Letters have been received at the custom house in this city from the treasury department at Washington demanding compensation for transportation of the crews of the wrecked whalers Mabel and Ohio of this port, from the Arctic ocean to San Francisco. One of the letters says that Capt. Healy of the Corwin reports that he picked up while cruising in Alaskan waters four officers and nineteen men of the bark Matsel, which was wrecked off Wainwright Inlet, on August 10, 1885 and furnished them transportation to San Francisco and subsistence from August to October 1 at an actual cost of $[illegible] for the officers and $10 [illegible] for the men. Such a demand was never made before.

CLEVELAND'S APPROACHING WEDDING.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Col. John B. Folsom of Wyoming county, this state, the grandfather of Miss Frankie Folsom, confirms the story that she is to marry President Cleveland. As to the date he says: "The only date I have heard mentioned was Wednesday, June 9, but I feel well satisfied that the plans will all be changed on account of newspaper talk. The wedding will take place in the White house."

JUSTICE MATTHEWS TO BE WEDDED.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Justice Stanley Matthews of the United States supreme court has been a pretty constant visitor to New York only at intervals of two or three weeks for some time. It is now announced among his intimate friends that he is soon to wed Mrs. Mary K. Theaker, widow of Judge J. C. Theaker, who was commissioner of patents under Lincoln.

WESTERN UNION ACTION DENIED.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Judge Wallace in the United States circuit court to-day denied a motion made by the Western Union telegraph company to restrain the Bankers & Merchants telegraph company from continuing its suit against that company for recovery of $2,000,000 damages for interfering with its wires last summer.

[illegible] CLEARING HOUSE RETURNS.

BOSTON, May 2.—A table compiled from special dispatches to the Post from the managers of the leading clearing houses of the United States shows the gross bank exchanges for the week ending May 1 as compared with the corresponding week in 1885. Total $7 [illegible], an increase of [illegible]

BIG BLAZE IN OHIO.

CLEVELAND, May 2.—At an early hour this morning fire broke out in the rear of August Strauss's clothing store at Berlin, Ohio, and before the flames were subdued a dozen or more wooden buildings were destroyed. About twenty business places were burned.

RAILROAD FOLKS

AN OFFER BY THE UNION PACIFIC.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The Union Pacific railroad company has offered to buy coupons of the Denver South Park and Pacific railroad company on its first mortgage bonds, representing interest falling due Friday. Winslow, Lanier & Co., bankers, in a circular advised the bondholders to confer together before accepting the Union Pacific's offer. A meeting of the bondholders was held to-day but no definite action was taken. It is believed by many of the bondholders that an acceptance of the Union Pacific's offer might weaken the security under mortgage.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

A Physician, Lately from the Isthmus, Speaks Discouragingly of the Project.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Dr. Wolfred Nelson, formerly member of the board of health of Panama, arrived in New York from the Isthmus by the last steamer. In an interview with a representative of the associated press to-day he said: "If De Lesseps is correctly represented by the press as saying that half the work of the canal is completed the statement is wilfully misleading to the French people. A fearful crisis has arisen in canal affairs. Its indebtedness to shareholders and bondholders now amounts to about $160,000,000, on which they are paying an annual interest of $6,000,000. It is reported on excellent authority that the company have exhausted their funds and are working on borrowed capital pending the floating of a new loan of $120,000,000. De Lesseps' visit to the isthmus is the preliminary step to floating the loan. If the [illegible] sum be secured it will give the canal works a fresh impetus and enable the company to refund some of the borrowed capital.

"For months past work has been dragging. [illegible] chief of works called some of the contractors together and requested them not to [illegible] work. This was done presumably to keep [illegible]

"Millions of dollars [illegible] expended [illegible] the [illegible] of the canal the great [illegible] unhoused and unprotected and much of it already ruined. Valuable locomotives, French and American, have been allowed to stand uncovered on sidings for months. In short millions of dollars have been thrown away in the purchase of plant. Much of it had been [illegible] and is wholly unfit [illegible] of Panama [illegible] having [illegible] is inadequate to [illegible]

"At the rear of Colon a magnificent [illegible] has been built on [illegible] swamp [illegible] two and a half feet above [illegible] warehouses can be [illegible] as well [illegible] handsome streets [illegible] The streets are beautifully [illegible] cocoanut trees being set [illegible] chief states that [illegible] during the swamp [illegible] hundreds in the harbor [illegible] condemned as useless.

"Although the company has spent this fabulous sum it has not yet a full right of way across the isthmus. Several important localities have not been [illegible] for. While this [illegible] is a notorious fact. Despite the presence of [illegible] engineers there are several [illegible] on the canal to-day where the contractors are unable to carry on the work, owing to the fact that no surveys have yet been made.

"The wilful reckless extravagance which has characterized the management of the company has probably never been paralleled. Huge sums of money have been spent in useless buildings. The superintendent Jules Dingler occupied a magnificent residence built and furnished at a cost of $160,000. Besides this, a palatial residence was built for him at [illegible] Grande. In Colon a magnificent house was put up for the visit of De Lesseps and fitted up in princely style. The furniture was specially imported from France.

"THE CHAGRES OBSTACLE.

"Much useless dredging is being done in the harbor of Panama. The company has not yet settled upon a plan for damming the unruly Chagres river. This will probably be the most difficult obstacle to overcome. Again the huge cut at Culebra if ever completed will have sides 327 feet high. The whole project bristles with difficulties that many consider practically insurmountable. It has been reported recently that Boyer, new chief of works, believes the sea level canal scheme impossible and will have it built as a lock canal as originally suggested by Capt. Bedford Pim and Commander [illegible] Three. In short after five years work the canal company is floundering about in an ocean of difficult and unsettled problems."

The doctor says the mortality from yellow fever is fearful and gives instances of its ravages even among officials of the company. He concludes:

"Should De Lesseps fail to secure a new loan and the French government assume the debts of the canal company reserving in return all its concessions, lands, etc., a new and dangerous political question must arise, as it is hardly fair to presume that France will be allowed to colonize at the gate of the Pacific."

ENGLAND

A MANIFESTO FROM GLADSTONE.

LONDON, May [illegible].—Gladstone, in a manifesto to his Midlothian constituents, explains that his great age has prevented his taking part in speeches during the Easter recess and has obliged him to reserve his limited powers for the house of commons and for that reason he uses his pen instead of his voice. Continuing he says: "Never have I known an occasion when a parliamentary event so rang throughout the world as the introduction of the home rule bill. From public meetings from the highest authorities in the British colonies and in America, from cities such as Washington, Boston and Quebec, from remote districts lying beyond the reach of ordinary political excitement, have received conclusive assurances that a kindred people regard with warm fraternal sympathy the attempt to settle once and for all the troubled relations between England and Ireland, which exhibit the only great failure of the political genius of our race to confront and master a difficulty and to obtain in a reasonable degree, the main ends of civilized life."

POLITICAL NOTES.

LONDON, May [illegible].—A meeting of the cabinet will be held Tuesday when Mr. Gladstone will return to London.

Numerous liberals have signed a memorial to Mr. Gladstone favoring the retention of Irish representatives at Westminster and imperial control of the customs and asking that the property qualification and [illegible] franchise be dropped and the rights of Ulster have safeguard.

JUSTIN McCARTHY'S FORECAST.

NEW YORK, May [illegible].—Justin McCarthy cables to the Herald: "My forecast is this: Gladstone's measure will not pass this session and will not pass in any session in its present shape, but all the same Gladstone has already carried home rule. No parliament will ever again attempt to carry on imperial business until it has settled the home rule question. Gladstone will educate England as Parnell has educated Gladstone."

INDIA

A REVOLT AGAINST BRITISH RULE FEARED.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Private and trustworthy cable dispatches say that native malcontents in India are becoming expectant of a break up of British rule. European officials civil and military have sent communications home stating that never since the great mutiny was crushed were the natives and especially the Brahmin class so insolent and threatening as now. The native press is more than ever hostile and aggressive. The demands of the educated natives include self government through the Brahmin class, reduction of the English garrison and formation of a strong body of native artillery to replace the English. Control of the Indian finances, of judicial appointments and of the native army seems to be the programme of the civilized Hindoo. Beyond press agitation there is known to be the nucleus of a conspiracy league, which if permitted free growth will become formidable.

GERMANY

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST RIOTING.

BERLIN, May 1.—The Prussian government fearing that strikes are impending has issued a decree ordering the police to interfere in case the strikers intimidate working men. Extra vigilance is ordered against strikes connected with social democratic agitation, the leaders of which make use of the strife for higher wages to widen the breach between employes and employer to increase the workman's hatred of existing political and social order and thus to bring about a great rupture between the laboring class and their employers. Socialist meetings and publications will be put under energetic surveillance. District governors are authorized to demand troops if necessary for the enforcement of these measures.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

NOTES FROM VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, May 1.—The Hudson Bay company's new ship Titania arrived this morning, 103 days from London with a general cargo. The passage was the quickest on record, the shortest heretofore being [illegible] days.

Sailed, Steamship George W. Elder for San Francisco with the following passengers: Miss I. Horton, Mrs. M. Horton, Miss A. Downer, E. Downer, M. B. Atkinson, R. A. Hume, H. [illegible] Jenkins, Joseph H. Lake, R. Broderick, [illegible] Turnbull and wife, Miss Lizzie Stevens, Lee Ching.

A large public meeting was held in the city hall this evening, the mayor presiding. Resolutions were passed asking the dominion government to grant a respite to the murderer Sproul, who is sentenced to hang on the [illegible] inst., until reports of the man's innocence be verified or falsified.

CALIFORNIA

TROOPS ORDERED FROM SEATTLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, May [illegible].—Yesterday a telegraphic order was received by Gen. Howard for the return of two companies of the Fourteenth infantry stationed at Seattle to Vancouver barracks near Portland. These soldiers were sent to Seattle at the request of the governor during the recent riots over the expulsion of Chinese and they have since been kept there to protect Chinese who remained.

THE LABOR MOVEMENT

The Situation Daily Becomes More Complicated.

A REASONABLE OFFER REJECTED

The Recent Secret Circular to Trades Unions—Work of the Congressional Committee—Butler Denounces the Boycott.

CHICAGO, May [illegible].—There was no excitement in the city to-day. The weather was beautiful and the masses seemed to be enjoying the warm sunshine instead of discussing the labor problem. Capitalists and heads of large establishments [illegible] the matter and there [illegible] meetings of many labor organizations. The streets were [illegible] crowded this Saturday [illegible] socialist headquarters [illegible] There was no disorder at any of the freight houses or lumber districts, but in both trouble is expected to-morrow. The leaders [illegible] labor [illegible] expect many strikes to-morrow in addition to manufacturing establishments and these will cause excitement and perhaps result in collision with the police.

Railroad men say they will open their freight houses to-morrow with the old men if they [illegible] and new men if they [illegible] The [illegible] upon them is that they [illegible] cannot [illegible] advance demanded [illegible] the men and that [illegible] make any concessions anyhow. It is thought [illegible] war [illegible] to-morrow will be at the [illegible] yards [illegible] that company has declared [illegible] of doing its business [illegible] the strikers.

A [illegible] in the freight [illegible] strike seems to have cropped up in the shape of the reported refusal of the switchmen of various roads to handle cars handled by scabs. It is not certain however that such action will be taken.

In the lumber district some trouble is anticipated from the fact that so many of the employes and foreigners imbued with anarchistic ideas. Lumbermen declare that they will not make the concessions demanded by the men and they seem determined to make a [illegible] There is a very large and difficult territory to be guarded. The English speaking labor element is a unit against disorder and will use all its influence to see that the laws are respected.

Manufacturers that closed down Friday night to give the men a holiday will not open again in the morning on account of the uncertainty of business and others that have refused the demands of their employes will form combinations which will test the staying qualities of the men to the utmost.

CRAZY WITH POWER.

At a meeting of the Rothschild strikers this afternoon a communication was read addressed to their workmen at Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City and Denver, saying the firm would pay 10 per cent advance on piece and day work and inaugurate the eight hour system. They wished all the men to return to work on Monday May 3. A heated debate followed the reading of this, and a majority of the men seemed in favor of accepting the firm's offer but Hansch, president of the cabinet makers union, and Blalknecht, a professional agitator, violently denounced the idea of accepting anything. A vote was then taken and to offer [illegible] Michael McMahon and [illegible] chairman and secretary of the strikers' committee, then brought things to a crisis by resigning their offices and declaring their intention of going back to work. Great confusion ensued and agitator Blalknecht asked McMahon in an ominous tone if he knew what the result of his step would be. Both men replied that they did not care what the result would be and left the room followed by the anathema of the crowd which was launched at them by Hansch. The meeting then passed under control of the agitators and a motion to stand out prevailed. All power was vested in the hands of the union and the men cut themselves off on motion from the privilege of communication with the firm. Some of the men nevertheless privately admitted their intention of going to work to-morrow. The firm has promised protection to those who return to its employ.

AT VARIOUS POINTS

THE CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—The congressional committee to-day decided on account of the illness of Vice President Hoxie to take the testimony of business men of St. Louis. Accordingly a large number of them were heard, including the president of the cotton exchange and also the mayor of the city. The testimony of the business men tended to show the disastrous effects of the strike on the business of the city and its interference with interstate commerce.

Mayor Francis was examined as to the part he had taken officially in keeping the strike down and subduing riotous mobs. He recited the stoppage of trains and detailed the work of the [illegible] authorities in aiding the railroad company in efforts to start freight [illegible]

Wm. McMillen, president of the Missouri foundry company, stated that the company employs about 1,000 men, but now only employs 250 all told, in consequence of the strike of their employes, and that this strike was the direct result of the Gould system strikes; that their men did not strike at the time the railroad men went out, but Knights of Labor connected with the railroad strike ordered their men out on refusal of the company to [illegible] furnishing repairing material, etc., to the Gould system. He said the company was greatly damaged by reason of its inability to fill contracts with various railroads. If these roads should not [illegible] on the company until they were able to secure men to work the damage would be irreparable.

The committee adjourned.

BUTLER DENOUNCES THE BOYCOTT.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Gen. Ben Butler has this to say about the boycott: "It is utterly unjustifiable and should not be adopted by laboring men—especially because it is the weapon of capital used by capital from time beyond memory. That is to say, wherever in all the world's history has stood forth as an advocate of the rights of labor, whether in the forum as a politician, in the legislative hall as a statesman, in the courts as a lawyer or in the press as a journalist, has always been boycotted by capitalists. Now when laborers by legal means and organization through the ballot box can control capital and make laws as the laborer pleases, why resort to a partial, illegal and always unjust remedy such as boycotting, which is the miserable invention of an oppressed people who have no power to raise their voice in making the laws which govern them? Boycotting is a confession of weakness—not an exhibition of strength. It cannot be dropped too soon. It is a two edged sword more dangerous, in the hands of unskillful wielders, to themselves than to others."

AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May [illegible].—From present indications 10,000 men in this city will strike to-morrow for eight hours as a day's work. The various assemblies of the Knights of Labor and building trades held meetings to-day, at which arrangements for conducting the inevitable lockout were made. They have ordered their members to present themselves to their employers to-morrow as usual and inform them that they will work but eight hours a day and if the proposition is not accepted to refuse to go to work. They have also ordered them to keep away from saloons and not to congregate on street corners. The police authorities have perfected arrangements for preserving peace.

AT PITTSBURG.

PITTSBURG, May 2.—At a meeting of stone masons of Pittsburg and Allegheny to-night it was decided to strike to-morrow for $3.25 per day of nine hours' work. They have been receiving $3.00 for ten hours and the employers are willing to concede the decrease in hours but say they cannot afford to pay more than 30 cents an hour. About 1,000 men will be thrown out by the strike.

AT BOSTON.

BOSTON, May [illegible].—About twenty of the largest carpenter firms of the city have yielded to the demand for eight hours and fifty other firms have offered to accede to the extent that nine hours shall constitute a day's work, but the offer has been refused. Twelve hundred painters held a meeting to-day. They expect no concessions and will strike.

AT CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, May [illegible].—A demonstration gotten up by the agitation committees of certain labor unions to-day had a procession of 2,000 persons. In the procession were a military company of socialists uniformed in gray and trimmed with [illegible] They marched behind a red flag.

Miss Cleveland Quite Willing

Washington Special to Cleveland Leader.

Many people suppose that the president's marriage will be distasteful to Miss Rose Cleveland [illegible] it will displace her as mistress at the White house. This is a mistake. A friend of mine tells me that he knows that Rose Cleveland lately sent a letter to one of her old school friends in [illegible] where she used to teach in which she stated that, though she liked the life of the White house she was tired of it and that she would be glad when the president's marriage during the coming summer relieved her from it. This is the first announcement of the marriage I have heard which comes from the White house.

The Same Experience

Washington Critic.

There was no necessity for the attorney general's letting the world know that the gaudy [illegible] ever had any attractions for him and the statement that he lost when he dallied with the poker chips was superfluous. Everybody has the same experience. This is true despite the apparent staggerer of Simon Suggs, who, when his father told him not to play cards because all who did lost their money, asked his parent: "Well, who wins the money that is lost?"

THE TRADES UNIONS

More About the Differences Existing with the Knights of Labor

CLEVELAND, May 2.—McGuire, general secretary of the brotherhood of carpenters and joiners, whose name heads the list of signatures to the secret circular made public yesterday in Pittsburg, was interviewed to-day regarding the object of the trades unions. Being asked who was the author of the circular, Mr. McGuire said:

"Now that the matter has been brought into print I will not hesitate to say that I am author of the call for the proposed conference of the chief officers of all the national and international trades unions. The conference will be held at Philadelphia on the 18th of this month and since its issue many hearty responses favorable to the call have been received at my office. I prepared the circular after due consultation with various chiefs with many prominent labor men alike of trades unions and the Knights of Labor. Had it been a matter of public concern I would most gladly have given the circular to the newspapers. From [illegible] indications some indiscreet or [illegible] person in Pittsburg furnished the circular to a certain daily in that city and since then I have been besieged with letters and telegrams concerning it. [illegible] for any [illegible] and far less good for a sensational [illegible] commencement of a labor war—of a bitter struggle between the trades unions and the Knights of Labor. No such thought ever entered my mind nor [illegible] nor is it the intent of the signers. Nothing would afford the enemies of organized labor more pleasure than to see the trades unions and Knights of Labor precipitated into open hostilities or engaged in an internecine quarrel which it is needless to say would be mutually harmful and [illegible] suicidal.

"What is the object of the conference? As I understand it the object of the proposed conference [illegible] to [illegible] for a labor alliance [illegible] the [illegible] general lines of [illegible] labor for their adoption. It is hoped that in this way both orders can [illegible] reciprocal agreement or understanding to work together in parallel lines without any collision or antagonism and without encroaching on each other's legitimate [illegible] For want of this difficulties have cropped up in a number of instances, and unless something is done there is every likelihood of their recurrence in the future. There is a certain raw, impatient and inexperienced element that has recently [illegible] into the labor movement. This element is hostile to the patient constructive conservative methods of trades unions and [illegible] the call for the trades union conference, under the cover of the Knights of Labor and as far as we can learn without authority from that body this element pursues its evil work. Now it is with a view to checking this strife breeding, anarchy element and to arrive at a harmonious understanding with the Knights of Labor that the call is issued. Between the Knights of Labor and the trades unions we desire to establish the closest terms of fraternity and complete solidity of interests. And in this I speak for the members of both organizations and like myself most of the trades-union officials are Knights of Labor. Was there any difficulty between the two orders it would not be likely that the trades unions would have done so much to nurture the Knights of Labor and aid them as notably in the telegraphers' strike. On that occasion in New York and large cities most of the funds for relief of the strikers were subscribed or donated by trades unions. You can rest assured that whatever differences exist they will be finally remedied without engaging in a family [illegible] If our object was hostile to the Knights of Labor we would not have called a conference in Philadelphia headquarters of the Knights of Labor. But we understand that the general executive board meets there May 18, and we propose to have a committee wait upon them, so as to have the subject brought to the attention of the special general assembly which meets in this city May 25."

WOMAN'S WORK AT THE POLLS

FOREST GROVE, May 1.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

We not only wish to thank Judge Bronaugh and Mrs. Owens Adair, M. D., for their suggestions in late numbers of THE OREGONIAN, but also to thank yourself for giving space to this subject which so greatly interests all good citizens. It is suggested that an amendment is needed to the [illegible] bill and that an amendment to our state constitution must be submitted to the voters, but dear friends much more is needed. In order to promote the welfare of the community it is very necessary that the judicial offices should be filled by men of strong temperance principles that the laws already on our statute books may be enforced.

A judge though partially elected by the whisky vote will give decisions which favor the liquor traffic just as far as public sentiment will permit, and a prosecuting attorney placed in office through the same instrumentality will fail to prosecute whenever he finds it possible to do so. Hence the necessity of filling these offices through temperance votes.

We mothers are very anxious that the law against selling strong drink to minors should be enforced. The law gives us our boys until they reach their majority. But alas! How often do we become Rachels, weeping for our loved and lost because this law has been violated.

Those opposed to prohibition tell us that temperance laws cannot be enforced, and this is true if we rest on our oars after securing favorable temperance legislation. The temperance people have taken a new departure in endeavoring to secure the election of men who will not only legislate against the sale of strong drink but will enforce the laws passed for our protection.

As we cannot protect ourselves through the ballot box, no man or woman having in their heart one particle of love for the human race could blame our women for going to the polls to ask the voter to give his ballot for the protection of their homes. As we are non partisan we can conscientiously ask the voter to give his vote to the temperance men nominated irrespective of party. If the voter really thinks the party he has supported is controlled by scheming politicians it is his privilege as a true American citizen to vote for men instead of party. We know there is a majority and a large majority too which loves country, home and children more than any political party that could be organized. Hence the people who love temperance and virtue ought to win a victory at the election in June next. To bring about such a result I am sure the mothers of Oregon would be willing to go to the polls and gladly use their influence in every way to secure the election of men who will not only pass required temperance laws but will enforce the laws we now have.

HEPPNER NOTES.

HEPPNER, April 28, 1886.

A force of workmen commenced to set the poles for the telephone company on this end. Sixteen miles in all so far have been set.

Sheep shearing has begun in earnest now. Six cents per head for shearing is being paid this year, a reduction of 1c from last year's price.

There is a great scarcity of hands here at present. Men are wanted to herd sheep or help driving sheep to market, as most of the old hands have gone shearing, as that pays the best, some hands earning as much as $3 per day.

Between the 1st and 10th of May the following bands of wethers will be driven out of this neighborhood, a small part of them having been purchased in Umatilla county. The purchase price paid on an average was $1.50 per head: L. D. Woods 21,000, destination, Nebraska; Ormsby 3000, Nebraska; Graden 6000, St. Paul; Fordyce 6000, Nebraska; J. H. Hedges 6400, Nebraska; Howell 9000, Wood river; T. Ash 6000 stock sheep, Montana. Excepting Messrs. Graden and Ash's band who will ship per Northern Pacific from Castle rock, the rest will all be driven overland.

Heppner needs a bank badly. There are thousands of dollars in bank checks offered every day but no money can be got on them. Look at all the wool money and money for sheep and cattle that are sold here, and see the amount of money a bank would handle here. As it is now the sheep buyers and wool buyers have to deposit their money in Pendleton or Portland which is very inconvenient. A bank that would have the confidence of the community would pay well. Another thing we need nearly as bad, namely, a railroad, even a narrow gauge up Willow creek would tap a rich farming country besides the tons and tons of wool, and live stock that is shipped from here.

OLYMPIA NOTES

OLYMPIA, W. T., April 30.

The news of the marriage of Miss Jessie B. Smith, daughter of Hon. E. L. Smith of Hood River, Or., to Dr. J. F. Watt of Pullman, W. T., was a very pleasant surprise to the friends of the young lady in this city where she formerly resided and many hearty wishes are expressed for her future happiness and prosperity.

Miss May D. Lewis, niece of Hon. John P. Hoyt, leaves to-morrow for a visit to her friends in the Eastern states. Miss Lewis since her arrival here has made many warm friends, who all unite in wishing her a safe and pleasant [illegible] Several delightful parties have been [illegible] her honor during the past week by [illegible] who thoroughly appreciate her many [illegible] qualities and deeply regret her departure.

The weather has scarcely anything but pleasant during the last [illegible] and yesterday it hailed, rained and snowed, [illegible] the astonishment of farmers and [illegible] who were little expecting such a damper to the [illegible] hopes of an early crop. It was expected that May day would be celebrated in the usual manner by a picnic at Five Oaks, but it is hardly probable that such an event will occur now, on account of the weather.

The building of a new Episcopal church in this city will soon be commenced, plans and specifications having, I believe, been accepted. The old building is becoming dilapidated, and any further repairs to it would be useless. It is hoped that by strong efforts a pipe organ may also be procured for the use of the new church, and contributions to that end will be thankfully received.

CHARGES AGAINST ROSECRANS

Strong Influence being Exerted Against Morrison's Tariff Bill—The Expenses of the Late Senator Miller's Funeral—Notes

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The [illegible] appropriation bill will be passed by the senate to-morrow and it is expected that the inter-state commerce bill will then command the attention of the senate after [illegible] o'clock each day until it is disposed of. Senator [illegible] who has it in charge, thinks it should be [illegible] after two or three days [illegible] bankruptcy bill [illegible] and the Des Moines river land bill are upon the caucus committee's programme for consideration next after the inter state commerce bill, but Senator Frye has expressed a purpose to contest their right of way some time during the week in behalf of the Staten island bridge bill. He will also ask that during the morning hour the [illegible] bill be taken up, discussed and passed.

To-morrow being individual suspension day in the house of representatives a number of public [illegible] measures will be passed under suspension of the rules. It is probable that the river and harbor bill will come up in the house Tuesday. As the important section remains to be considered the bill cannot be finally disposed of in one day. The Hurd-Romeis contested election case may be reached on the same day and the committee report in favor of Weaver [illegible] member will, without doubt, be adopted after a short debate. The [illegible] indemnity bill comes up on Wednesday morning [illegible] A struggle for precedence is expected between contesting special orders for that day which may result in the taking up of the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill. Friday will be devoted to consideration of private bills and on Saturday the Oklahoma bill will again receive the attention of the house.

Following is a statement of the present position of the regular annual appropriation bills. Five—the general deficiency, legislative, sundry civil, naval and fortification bills—have not been reported from the committees in which they originated. Three—the military academy, consular and diplomatic and army appropriation bills—are upon the house calendar. The river and harbor bill is unfinished business in committee of the whole. Three—the pension, District of Columbia and agricultural bills—have passed the house and are before the senate committee on appropriations. The postoffice bill is before the senate, as the Indian bill has passed both houses.

THE CHARGES AGAINST ROSECRANS.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The charge against Gen. Rosecrans is that he was engaged in some fraudulent land speculation in Los Angeles county about twenty years ago. The facts of the case are as follows: In 1866 Gen. Rosecrans had George Hansen, deputy U. S. surveyor, survey a Mexican grant, the rancho San Salredondo, in Los Angeles county. The owners of the grant were not represented at the survey and protested against it. The survey of Hansen made the grant smaller than the owners claimed it was, and Gen. Rosecrans had a number of dummies take up the land that had been thrown into the public domain by changing the boundaries of the grant through the survey. The findings of the court of Los Angeles in the case were that the dummies that had taken up the land had assigned their claims that the Rosecrans-Hansen survey was set aside by the secretary of the interior in 1868 and a new survey ordered, that the second survey ran lines that included all the land claimed by Rosecrans within the Mexican grant. This second survey was set aside in 1871 and Hansen's survey re-established. Some persons who had squatted on the land bought by the dummies were ordered to remove and they set up claims that Rosecrans's title was obtained fraudulently. The case was carried to the United States supreme court and Senator Edmunds was engaged by the settlers. He made an argument on the fraudulent character of the title held by Rosecrans, but the court held that the settlers were not proper parties to bring action against Rosecrans to vacate his title, that the United States government should do that. The court without passing on the fact whether the land had been fraudulently obtained dismissed the suit of the settlers.

Edmunds remembered the facts of the case and brought them to the attention of Merrill, chairman of the committee on finance when Rosecrans's nomination was sent to the senate. It was that that hung up Rosecrans's nomination and which will probably defeat him.

MORRISON'S TARIFF BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Morrison becomes more and more indignant as he is importuned further to modify his tariff bill by striking out all reference to wool and with impatience replies to such suggestions by saying that if he were to cut out wool there would be nothing left of his bill. There is no doubt that opposition to the measure is steadily growing. Intimations of breaks in this and that democratic delegation continue to manifest themselves. The agitation of the matter is having its effect throughout the country in all branches of business and members of congress are urged by their constituents to do what they can to defeat Morrison's design. There are now upon the speaker's list of members who desire to debate the bill the names of seventy five, and it is more than probable that the number will be increased before the end of the month when it is the intention to call up the bill. It is a question as to whether or not those who are opposed to the bill can prevent its consideration. Strenuous efforts will be made to do so but Morrison and Carlisle take the ground that the democratic party is pledged to reduce the tariff and they will not desist until they have exhausted every effort to do so.

INTERESTING CENSUS STATISTICS.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The report of Dr. Billings, surgeon U. S. A., on mortuary and vital statistics of the United States as returned for the tenth census (June 1880) has been received by the secretary of the interior. It says the total population of 1880 was [illegible], an increase in ten years of [illegible]. Of this increase [illegible] per annum may be taken as due to immigration, the total number of immigrants for ten years being 2,812,[illegible]. This makes the mean annual increase due to excess of births over deaths [illegible] The mean annual birth rate for the United States is given as [illegible] per 1000. It appears from data in the report that the United States as a whole, during the census year had a comparatively low death rate and a high birth rate. The death rate is shown to be higher in the colored than in the white population, in the foreign element than whites of American parentage and in cities than in rural districts.

EXPENSES OF SENATOR MILLER'S FUNERAL.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The expenses of the funeral of the late Senator Miller were not as large as it was predicted they would be. Following are the items of the bill: Transportation $[illegible], Pullman cars $[illegible], traveling expenses including hotel bills $[illegible], sashes, gloves, etc., $273, carriages in Washington $11, draping the senate chamber, $[illegible], cartage and use of 300 chairs, $37; total, $[illegible].

A GENERAL FORFEITURE BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—It is said that the senate committee on public lands has decided to report a bill forfeiting all railroad land grants where the road has not been built and to confirm grants where the road has been built, whether within the time specified in the act or not. Such bill will forfeit the land grant of the California & Oregon railway north of the point where the road now ends.

SECRETARY MANNING.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Secretary Manning, accompanied by Mrs. Manning and his sister, Miss Manning, took a long drive to-day. During the afternoon and evening he received a large number of callers, among them being the president, Col. Lamont, Secretaries Lamar and Whitney, Senators Gorman and Call, and Mr. Bancroft, the historian.

STATE DISPATCHES

ACCIDENT TO THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

ASTORIA, May 1.—The steamship State of California broke her shaft at 5 o'clock yesterday morning when off Cape Mear's, forty miles south of the Columbia river. Passengers were in berth and were not alarmed, as they thought they had reached the mouth of the river and were waiting for the tide to go in. The sea being smooth, what sail she had kept her steady. Shortly after 1 P. M. the Oregon hove in sight, and being signaled came alongside, and at 2 P. M. took her in-tow, arriving off the Columbia river at [illegible] P. M., where the State of California anchored, the Oregon standing by, waiting for the morning high tide. At 10 A. M. to-day the State of California anchored off Fort Stevens, the Oregon immediately recrossing the bar on the same tide for San Francisco. The Dixie Thompson towed the State of California from Fort Stevens to dock here, landing passengers at noon. The shaft broke at the journal from an old defect. Machinists say that the shaft can be clamped sufficiently strong to work the steamer to San Francisco. No freight was allowed to be taken off dock here. The general average bond will be signed next Monday. At six o'clock the State of California left for Portland, the Dixie Thompson and [illegible] towing.

PORTLAND, MONDAY, MAY 3, 1886.

AN APPEAL FOR AID.

In the republican convention last Thursday Mr. Jerome Knox, of Lake county, made a very earnest appeal for a road from Ashland or some other point on the O. & C. R. R. through Klamath and Lake counties to Lakeview. These rich counties are now connected with Western Oregon only by a rough trail, over which it is not possible to work freighting teams. The distance from Ashland to Lakeview is about 185 miles, over a country partly mountainous but for the most part slightly rolling. There would be few grades and no very heavy ones, and a road could be made easily and cheaply. It is estimated that from $20,000 to $25,000 would do the work in good style for the whole distance, and the next legislature will be asked to appropriate this sum.

In their present isolation Klamath and Lake counties are cut off practically from any other than a civil connection with Oregon. To Redding, California, on the C. & O. R. R., they have a good road, and all their business goes in that direction. During much of the winter it is absolutely impossible to cross the mountain trail, so that even the Oregon mails are stopped. Two years ago the representative to the legislature from Lake county, in coming to attend the winter session, had to go via San Francisco, or more than a thousand miles out of the natural, direct route. The whole trade of the country goes, of course, to California from force of circumstances and against the wish of the people, who would much rather deal in the markets of their own state. Having no connection with Western Oregon by road, Lake and Klamath counties get no share of the new population now pouring into the state. In short, they suffer all the disadvantages of isolation. They contribute a very considerable share of the general taxation, and they feel that they ought to have some benefits from a connection which sentimentally and politically they hold in high regard.

The assertion of Mr. Knox, that Lake and Klamath counties form the largest and richest undeveloped district in the United States, is unquestionably true. It is little known because far from the centers of population and hedged in by distance and high mountains. But it contains wide areas of rich land, is bountifully watered and has an excellent climate. It is destined to be rich and populous and offers many attractions to those who are content to begin while things are new and grow up with the country.

It is important that Oregon should at this time secure the business of this great region, else in a few years it may become permanently established with California. The Klamath river, which flows to the West directly across the northern part of California, is not a navigable stream, but its canyon offers a fine opportunity for a wagon road without grades. If the proposed road between Ashland and Lakeview is not built by this state as soon as the railroad is extended, California will put one through down the Klamath canyon to some railroad point in that state. If we build a road and get the trade first, we will be able probably to keep it.

THE DEMOCRATIC SITUATION.

Among democrats, or a portion of them, there may be an opinion that their party has "a sure and easy thing" for the coming election. Such opinion would be a very erroneous one. It may be possible, indeed, for the democratic party to obtain at least partial success, but if even this is to be possible the nominations must be of a character to commend themselves to the country by a recognized fitness outside of mere party reasons or affiliations. There is a republican majority in the state. If any democrat is to be elected he must be elected by the help of a certain number of republican votes; but those votes he will not get, unless he shall be clearly a fitter man for the office for which he may be named than his republican opponent. For governor, in particular, a man should be selected who is recognized a man of affairs, who has knowledge of general business and capacity for public business; who knows something of the history, course and situation of the state's affairs, and on whom all citizens can rely as a reasonable and safe man to be invested with executive authority. Unless some such man be nominated, there will be few persons of republican affiliations or antecedents, except those who may go to the prohibition party, who will decline to vote for Cornelius. Again, the nomination for the office of state treasurer, if it is to have an actual and aggressive strength, must be such as will give assurance that there is to be a change from the methods that have been pursued during many years past. The people want the treasury to go into new hands; not controlled by a see-saw between the parties which will leave it in the same hands, no matter which candidate is elected. Whether, therefore, the democratic party of Oregon is to meet with any kind of success in the coming election or not will depend wholly on the judgment it displays in making nominations. It will be a gross act of folly on its part to imagine itself sure of success with any ticket it may offer.

In a recent number of Bradstreet's, Edward Atkinson, a noted economical writer, shows that of each [illegible] workers in the United States, only [illegible] are engaged in occupations upon whom an eight-hour law could be enforced, and that consequently the passage of such a law would simply operate to depress the trades upon which it could be enforced, relatively to all other trades. In the first place, agricultural labor, cattle and sheep [illegible] could not be [illegible] by an eight-hour law, and if they could [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], gas works, [illegible], restaurants, and all other employments requiring continuous heat could not be subjected to the eight-hour rule without [illegible] [illegible]. Paper mills require continuous [illegible]. So also do railroads. There then are the great multitude of employments that the [illegible] of the law can never reach, or know anything about, the people who work at home, such as seamstresses, washer-women, carpenters, blacksmiths, in short, everybody who is his own employer. The only trades that could be reached are those where large numbers of workers are collected together for the purpose of attending machinery, such as cotton and woolen mills, rolling mills, boot and shoe factories, and the like. These number not more than one in ten of the people of the United States who work with their hands.

John Catlin is a very proper man for the office of county judge. This is a very important office, and the man selected for it should be selected with a view to his capacity for it, not to provide him with a place. Mr. Catlin will receive the votes of a great number of citizens, without distinction of party. For so responsible an office, a responsible man ought to be chosen. In many respects this is the most important of our local offices. The county judge has to do with roads, bridges and ferries; the probate business is large and increasing; the care of the county poor, the examination and commitment of the insane, the levying of taxes, and the disbursement of revenues, all pass under the county judge's supervision: and a man ought to be elected who will give the county a good business administration.

Taken throughout, the democratic county ticket, nominated on Saturday, need not be ashamed of comparison of material with the republican ticket nominated a week earlier. Moreover, it not being "a set-up job," it has a distinct advantage. The ticket was not made by a ring, nor for ring purposes. Democrats say it will get the entire democratic vote of the county, and probably it will. Particular men upon it will be supported also by great numbers of republican independent voters, partly because of their recognized fitness and partly as a means of administering a rebuke to that close corporation known as the republican ring of this county. Therefore in making up their county and legislative tickets, great numbers of independent voters will exercise a careful discrimination. In particular they will vote against the most active and offensive of the republican ring tools and managers. Some say they will vote the entire democratic ticket, though the number of these probably will not be large. But there are abundant signs that the knife will be used freely against the ring ticket. It should be used freely enough to retire the bosses from "practical politics."

No person better fitted to be county school superintendent could be named than Miss E. C. Sabin. Miss Sabin is a woman of rare natural gifts and superior acquirements, and she has peculiar fitness for educational work. If she does not forbid the use of her name, and THE OREGONIAN trusts she will not, there need be no fear that she will not receive a majority of the votes cast for the office for which she has been named.

"Why don't THE OREGONIAN stand right in and support the whole ticket?" the organs are asking now. Brethren, THE OREGONIAN mustn't "dictate." Remember how you congratulated yourselves six months ago that "the party was rid of the dictatorship of THE OREGONIAN."

Paralysis of business promises to be one of the results of the strikes. Money will not seek new investments while matters are so unsettled.

OPEN LETTER NO. 3

To the Taxpayers: Next I might [illegible] to the injury done you by the whisky ring stands bribery in elections. The man who will sell his vote is second in political degradation only to the man who buys it. The man who will buy a vote at the polls will very probably sell his own vote in the legislature or debase any other office to which he may be elected so soon as his price is offered him.

Such men ought not to be permitted to vote, much less to hold office. It is reasonable to presume that no taxpayer ever sells his vote at an election. If he does, he certainly is as badly lacking in common sense as in common honesty, for the man who buys votes does so on speculation, and expects by rascally methods to get his money back, with large interest, out of the taxpayers, and if he succeeds in being elected to office is sure to do so. Ninety-nine men in a hundred who sell their votes pay no tax, unless it be upon their rum-addled polls.

Such men are not taxpayers for the reason that they spend most of their earnings in the saloons, and they are the purchasable sold ray with which the rumsellers and unprincipled demagogues win their victories over the taxpayers at the ballot-box. I do not expect to get the votes of any of that ilk, nor do I solicit them. They will all be used against me at this election. They constitute a dangerous minority, just strong enough to turn any election in favor of the men who purchase their votes, when honest men are nearly equally divided in a contest for true party principles. If I should be elected to be your next prosecuting attorney, it will be by the votes of patriotic sober, unpurchasable, laboring men, farmers, mechanics, merchants and business men of both parties in this county—the tax-payers whose battle I am fighting.

I wish to say, therefore, that if elected I will donate to any person who will furnish evidence sufficient to convict any man, rich or poor, high or low of buying or selling a vote at an election, all the fees to which I may be entitled by law for procuring such conviction. I was told the other day that if I desire to be elected I must not say too much. I don't want to be elected at the expense of principle, nor at the cost of suppressing truth that ought to be spoken in the interest of those whose votes I expect to get. I would rather see Oregon redeem herself from the evils I am combatting than to hold all the offices within the gift of her people. I am not seeking office. The taxpayers of this county will best please me by voting as they honestly please. If I am right, sustain me; if I am wrong, defeat me. If elected I will endeavor to serve you faithfully.

E. C. BRONAUGH.

A SCHOOL BOY'S CRITICISM.

PORTLAND, April 29, 1886.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As anything that encourages falsehood is wrong, I wish to call attention through the columns of your valuable paper to the evil now practiced in some grades of our public schools, viz: the self-reporting system. That is requiring pupils to rise at the close of school and report any little misdemeanors committed during the day. I know of cases in which pupils who would scorn to misrepresent the most trifling matter, unhesitatingly report "perfect" when they know they have misbehaved. This self-reporting system is wrong, and I hope that the attention of the board of directors will be called to it and that they will have such an unnecessary and falsehood-encouraging system abolished.

There are many other evils in our schools, such as the teaching of mental arithmetic—now abolished from most of our good schools—and the "teaching by rote" method of grammar; but of course it is not to be expected that it be absolutely perfect. Nevertheless, our educators should look for the best way for development of the intellectual abilities of our children. Recent statistics show that our educational system, taken as a whole, is in a very demoralized condition, each state having school laws at variance with the systems of other states.

Let us hope that the educational questions, from such trifling rules as "checks," "permits," "self-reporting," etc., to the proper textbooks, studies and a grand universal educational system, will receive the attention that they deserve, and in the near future a better state of things exist.

A Druggist's Story.

Mr. Isaac C. Chapman, druggist, Newburg, N. Y., writes us: "I have for the past ten years sold several gross of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I can say of it what I cannot say of any other medicine. I have never heard a customer speak of it but to praise its virtues in the highest manner. I have recommended it in a great many cases of Whooping Cough with the happiest effects. I have used it in my own family for many years; in fact, always have a bottle in the medicine closet ready for use."

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Forty-nine deeds were filed for record with the county clerk during the past week of an aggregate value of $66,925 35. The mortgages filed for record for the same period foot up $14,005 60, and released $660.

The business for the week shows an increase of $3,771 79 over that of the week ending; but this increase is due to the filing of a deed, the consideration of which was $20,000, and which cannot be called an actual transfer. The transfers for the month aggregate $111,421 55. Mortgages for the same period foot up $79; and the releases $79,701 00.

The inquiry for real property has been very light during the week and but few of the transfers have passed through the regular channels. The prospective reduction in the rates of interest has made holders of property more exacting in the matter of prices, and would-be purchasers hold themselves aloof, awaiting their opportunity. There is scarcely any demand for general farm lands, and suburban property is in no particular demand.

Following are the transfers for the week:

MARION COUNTY PROHIBITIONISTS.

SALEM, April 30.

To the Editor of THE OREGONIAN.

In the line of news the wonderful activity of the prohibitionists of Marion county is worthy of mention. Six weeks ago they nominated a full county ticket, and ever since have been as busy as beavers in the political stream. They have circulated what is called a party roll, and claim over 600 signatures. In the four Salem precincts they have an organized club of 101 active members, all voters; in Silverton another large club, and are organizing their forces in every precinct. Hon. G. W. [illegible], Rev. Mr. Webb, Prof. Starr and others are stumping the county. The Prohibition Star issues a daily evening edition, which is an evidence of great activity. With the present great dissatisfaction in the republican party and the lack of difference between the old parties, there would be no greater thing than the election of the complete prohibition ticket in Marion county.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

FIRST PRODUCTION.—The first lime drawn from the kiln of the Portland lime and cement company was secured by George Langford, the wellknown contractor, who had a team at the works bright and early Saturday morning and carried away a ton. Others quickly followed, and before 11 o'clock half a dozen tons were in the hands of parties who were anxious to test the quality of the home production. A reporter ran across Mr. Langford Saturday afternoon as he was superintending the making of the lime into mortar and asked him how it worked. "First rate," was the reply; "It is the best I have ever had. We have not found a lump or a core in it, and this was the first drawn. I am going to make a thorough test before I will be prepared to say just how much more sand it will take up than the other kinds I have been using. If any one wants to see how the new lime works tell him to call on me." Of course lime fresh from the kiln is much better than that which has stood around for awhile. The papermills at LaCamas and at Clackamas have tested this lime thoroughly, and found it much superior for their use to that which they have heretofore been using. When slacked it makes a beautiful "paste" as white as snow. Contractors generally evince a laudable desire to patronize home industry in this branch, which should encourage others to start other manufacturing enterprises. A few manufactures started here would make a great change in the aspect of things.

VAG THE MAQUEREAUX.—Charles Bellgarde was arrested by policeman Morgan yesterday afternoon and taken to the city jail, where charges of drunk and disorderly and vagrancy were booked against him. A few hours after bail in the sum of $60 was deposited by a friend, and Bellgarde was allowed his liberty. The arrest of this fellow seems to be a new departure on the part of the police. He is one of a dozen or more well-known French "maquereaux" who have loafed around this town so long without molestation that it has been generally supposed that the police were afraid to arrest them, and that no police judge would convict them. Vagrants they all are, and of the most despicable class, fattening on the earnings of fallen women, and living in idleness and uselessness, wandering from saloon to saloon. This fellow, Bellgarde, has "bluffed" the authorities by claiming to be a manager of the property of some prostitute. It is rather close to election to begin a raid on the class of pimps to which Bellgarde belongs, but if he is convicted, all the others should be "vagged" at once. They claim as an excuse for their existence that there are some Americans here of the same class. If there are they should be vagged also. Bellgarde should not be pounced upon and the others allowed to go free. Every one of the vicious idlers is well known to the old members of the force, as are their haunts and the miserable women whose earnings support them, and whom they often maltreat and abuse.

CAPT. PINGSTONE'S DEATH.—A Colville correspondent of the Spokane Falls Review relates the particulars of the accidental shooting of Capt. A. P. Pingstone, the popular and widely known steamboat man, in the following manner: On the morning of April 2, at the Little Dalles, on the Columbia, the captain, with a number of other persons, was standing in front of Peters's place of business when a deer was seen to pass within about fifty steps to the house. As usual there was a rush for guns. A young man took a gun from another party hurriedly, and in cocking it it went off, the discharge passing through both of Capt. Pingstone's legs; entering the left leg behind the knee, severing the popliteal artery; entering the right leg at the head of the tibia, shattering the bone in its course outward. He lost a large amount of blood before the necessary bandages could be put on. Dr. LaBan was immediately summoned from Colville, and arrived at the Little Dalles eight hours after the accident occurred. He had suffered greatly for the first four or five hours, and sank very rapidly from the start. The doctor arrived an hour before his death. He administered the usual remedies in such cases, but to no effect. Capt. Pingstone was a native of England and was 47 years of age.

WHOSE SURVEY?—A corps of Union Pacific engineers arrived at Ontario, Or., one day last week to make survey up the Malheur and via McKenzie's fork on the Willamette river. Three days thereafter a large outfit arrived at the same point from the west with scrapers and grading tools, and buying supplies from Frank R. Jolin & Bro. went up to the canyon of the Malheur and began work. This outfit belongs to the Chicago & Northwestern, and the commencing of the work of grading on the line surveyed last winter means that the Chicago & Northwestern intend to extend their road through Idaho to tidewater, in which event Boise City will be included in the route.—Boise Democrat. The party mentioned as coming, like Mark Twain's load of hay, from the west, is probably the party mentioned a day or two since in these columns as having been sent to Ontario by the Oregon Pacific railway company. Some of the party may have said that it was sent out by the Chicago & Northwestern, but it is safe to bet that whoever said so lied, under a mistake. The Democrat will do well not to build too much on being "included in the route," till it finds out more about the so-called Chicago & Northwestern party.

REVISITING HIS BIRTHPLACE.—Among the passengers who arrived here yesterday on the disabled steamship State of California was Rev. J. H. Bates, pastor of the M. E. church at Dunkirk, New York. Mr. Bates is a native of Philomath, Benton county, where he received the rudiments of his education, and after attending the Salem university for a time, went east twenty years ago, graduated at the Boston university, and has been engaged in the work of the ministry ever since. He is out here on a summer vacation of three months to visit his relatives and old friends. He is a student of photography, having made quite a study of dry plate works and instantaneous pictures and he secured some good pictures of the Oregon coming to the aid of the disabled State. Mr. Bates was only 17 when he left Oregon, so he is still a young man. He wears a very handsome flowing beard of jet black and has very little the appearance of the typical minister. He was mistaken, when he called at this office, for a journalist of the better class.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.—Yesterday the delegations from Union, Baker and Wasco counties to the democratic state convention, which meets to-morrow, arrived here, and are quartered at the Holton. A few delegates are here from the valley. Eastern Oregon will probably present one or more candidates for the treasurership. Among those mentioned are: Colonel Jack Morrow, of Morrow; George Webb, of Pendleton; L. B. Rinehart of Union, and R. F. Gibbons of Wasco. From what could be learned last night, the "east of the mountains" country has no candidate for congressman, governor, supreme judge, or secretary of state. They have had no opportunity yet to confer with valley delegates, and are quite as undecided about a choice for the offices mentioned as they were when they left here.

CARELESS SHOOTING.—The family of George Horn, residing in the southern portion of the city, were startled last Saturday afternoon by a bullet which came crashing through the window, scattering broken glass in all directions and striking near where the children were. Mr. Horn coming home shortly after, went out in the direction from which the missile came and found several boys who were shooting at small birds. The rifle they were using was of the same caliber as the bullet fired into his house so he took charge of it, considering without doubt that they were the guilty parties. Boys who do not know better than to go shooting around people's houses and endangering their lives should not be permitted to have firearms. On account of the youthfulness of the offenders in this case Mr. Horn does not wish their names mentioned.

SUDDEN AND SERIOUS ILLNESS.—About 9 o'clock yesterday morning Elijah Williams, father of Hon. Richard Williams, was taken seriously ill at his residence on the asylum road, one mile east of East Portland. Drs. C. H. Raffety and J. T. Ghiselin were hastily summoned, and prompt measures were taken for the relief of the sufferer. After careful examination and consultation the physicians reached the conclusion that Mr. Williams is suffering from thrombosis, or plugging of the arteries of both legs, and is threatened with dry or senile gangrene. The effect of this ailment is virtual paralysis of the limbs affected. At last accounts the sufferer was resting as easily as could be expected, though, if the doctors' diagnosis be correct, there is no hope of recovery.

DEDICATION OF A CHURCH.—The First Presbyterian church of Albina was dedicated to divine worship at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The sermon was preached by Rev. A. L. Lindsley, D. D., from Psalms xxxi: 1. The act of dedication was read by Rev. W. O. Forbes, the pastor, and the dedicatory prayer was offered by President J. H. Wyckoff of Albany collegiate institute. The pastor read a statement showing that the church was erected at a total cost of $1298 10, although the plans involved an outlay of $1600. The carpets which cover the floor were paid for by the ladies. The pulpit furniture was the gift of personal friends of the pastor.

LEAGUE MEETING.—Yesterday afternoon a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Irish national league was held in Cahalin's hall, President Thomas Kearny in the chair. Several members made short speeches congratulating Ireland on the prospect of home rule. One member spoke of the grand action of the great American people in taking the side of justice. Another spoke of the great opposition that will be brought against the home rule bill by Lord Churchill and his supporters. The members propose to call a mass meeting in the near future to indorse the home rule movement of Gladstone and Parnell.

HOTEL TO BE CLOSED.—Messrs. Norden & Andrus proprietors for the past six years of the Occidental hotel, have concluded to discontinue business. The lease of the premises will expire in a short time and Mr. E. D. Smith, the owner, intends, during the coming summer, to build brick stores on the site occupied by the hotel. As no satisfactory lease could be secured, no definite occupancy or sale of the hotel can be effected. Under these circumstances the proprietors have concluded to dispose of the furniture and fixtures at public sale.

CLACKAMAS COUNTY PROHIBITIONISTS.—Following is the ticket nominated by the prohibitionists of Clackamas county: For senator, A. R. Shipley; representatives—A. Luelling, Josiah Franklin, E. W. Foster, A. R. Sparks; judge, W. W. Mars; sheriff, M. E. Carlde; clerk, R. A. Clark; commissioners—John Labor, Robert Schuble; treasurer, C. M. Kester; assessor, M. Burlingame; school superintendent D. Harvey; surveyor, T. P. Randal; coroner, George Kinney.

ADDRESS WANTED.—Relatives of E. J. Graham, formerly of Birkenhead, England, have written to John Robertson, of this city, desiring to find his whereabouts. Mr. Graham was in this city about two years ago and is supposed to be somewhere on this coast now. If he will communicate with Mr. Robertson he will hear something of interest. If any one knowing of his whereabouts or death will inform Mr. Robertson, the information will be transmitted to his friends.

FALSE ALARM.—About 6 o'clock yesterday morning, two countrymen driving down Third street in a buggy, saw steam issuing from Harris' ice factory and mistook it for smoke. They whipped their team to a gallop, came rushing into Morrison street shouting "fire" at the top of their voices, and seeing policeman Hart, pointed toward the cloud of steam. Hart, not doubting that a terrible conflagration had started, turned in an alarm from box 12. Then he started for the fire and is still hunting for it.

TOURISTS' GUIDE.—The Union Pacific railroad company has recently issued for gratuitous distribution, a guide to the health and pleasure resorts of the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast region. It is a book of seventy-five pages, and contains a number of handsome illustrations of scenes on the main line and branches, including six along the Columbia river. A fine picture of Castle rock adorns the cover.

THE EAST SIDE.

INVITATION PICNIC EXCURSION.

On Saturday last, by special invitation of Capt. McCauley, a party of ladies and gentlemen of East Portland, boarded the graceful little steam yacht Uncle Richard, and were conveyed to Oswego, where the day was spent in fishing, botanizing and other pleasurable pastimes, not the least among the enjoyments being a sumptuous repast provided from among the depths of ample baskets, which had been previously filled. The yacht left the foot of M street at 11 A. M. and arrived at Oswego at 12:30, the running schedule being purposely slow in order to give the guests ample time to contemplate the "lovely river, for whose banks "spring's green witchery is weaving braid and border" of inexpressible loveliness. The ride up, the hours spent in Oswego and the journey back were especially enjoyed by all in the company. The little craft is a most pleasant vessel to ride upon, sailing along over the waters as smoothly as a swan, with none of that roll so offensive in most small propellers. On the return trip a vote of thanks was tendered Capt. McCauley for the pleasures of the day. Following are the names of those attending: Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. S. Bullock and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. McCauley, Mrs. L. A. Strahl and son, Mrs. Capt. W. H. Robertson, Mrs. W. C. Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Simpson and son, Mr. Joseph Floyd, Miss Lila Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Struble, Miss Minnie Struble, Mrs. W. G. Simpson and daughter, Charles Hill, F. E. Bullock and George Morgan.

USEFUL GIFTS.

John Sommerville has presented the First Congregational church with a fine Brussels carpet for the parlor, Mrs. F. A. Bancroft having presented the society with a handsome heating stove, chandelier and lamps. A half dozen tables have also been presented by parties unknown, which will be used in case a sociable takes place and refreshments are served. The alterations to the church and the addition is now completed, and is an improvement of which the society may well feel proud.

NOTES.

Regular meeting of the common council this evening at 8 o'clock.

Owing to the county convention no meeting of the East Portland democratic club was held on Saturday evening.

Mrs. D. L. Moomaw, nee Miss Emma Hembree, of Baker City, will visit friends in East Portland during the current week.

At 2 P. M. to-day the ministerial association of the Portland district, Oregon annual Conference, will meet at the M. E. church, corner Ninth and I streets.

The Willamettes, of this city, will meet the Portlands at the Oaks on next Sunday afternoon. Our boys are confident of their ability to "wax it to" their rivals from over the river.

Mr. Hiram Newell and wife, father and mother of Mr. J. A. Newell, of this city, have returned to their home at Saratoga Springs, New York, after spending eight weeks visiting with their son's family.

There will be a conference of the delegates from Multnomah county to the democratic state convention this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock, at the Masonic hall.

Interesting confirmation exercises were held Saturday at the Synagogue, Solomon Bloom, son of J. Bloom, being confirmed. The lad delivered an excellent address.

About 1500 people visited the city park yesterday and enjoyed the fine view and the pleasant stroll along the winding paths. C. M. Myers, the efficient keeper of the park, was on hand as usual, looking after everybody and everything and sporting with evident pride a brand new silver star inscribed, "Park Police."

A POPULAR HOUSE.

The "Democratic World" has this to say of our largest and most popular hotel:

"The leading hotel of the Northwest is now the St. Charles, Front and Morrison, this city. C. W. Knowles, who is the genial and urbane manager, is indisputably the most successful and popular Boniface who has ever held sway in Portland. The house has recently been entirely refitted and handsomely furnished throughout from the ground floor to the roof, and by an eight addition, twenty new rooms have been added—making 200 in all—to accommodate the traveling public. One of the famous Otis elevators—which is regarded as the best of elevators—has been put in the hotel. It has a capacity of ten tons weight, and is accessible at all times to the guests of the house, being in charge of a gentlemanly conductor. The capacities of this hostelrie were taxed to an extent by the large influx to the republican convention, the greater portion of the delegates and visitors making this house their headquarters, which, considering the well known fact that the genial Charles is a follower of the party of Jefferson and Jackson, may be regarded as rather complimentary to his ability and popularity. The dining rooms are in charge of one of the most experienced of caterers and the cuisine is a marked feature of this extensive hotel. Mr. Knowles is in receipt of a great number of inquiries for accommodations from those who will attend the coming democratic state convention, and the capacity of his hotel will be no doubt tested to even a greater extent than it has been during the recent session of the republican convention. We congratulate Mr. Knowles on the deserved success that his efforts to entertain the public are meeting."

Delegates from ten counties have secured rooms, and it will be the headquarters during the convention.

LEGAL QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

SALEM, April 29.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Having seen in the columns of THE OREGONIAN many instances of your ability and kindness in answering questions that perplex some others, I venture for the first time to try your patience. Please tell me:

First—Does a warranty deed conveying property to Amanda Brown—a married woman—and her heirs only forever give her a clear title to it, i. e., does it convey to her the unqualified right to sell or otherwise dispose of said property as she may wish?

Second—In case the said Amanda Brown dies childless who inherits her property?

Third—If her husband cannot succeed to it by direct heirship, cannot she constitute him a direct heir by will?

Please do not curtly advise me to consult a lawyer; have already consulted two or more, and none agree; and knowing that some on THE OREGONIAN'S editorial staff have had years of experience in determining the laws of Oregon, I respectfully ask you to express your opinion in a future issue of THE OREGONIAN.

REGULAR SUBSCRIBER.

[First—A married woman cannot convey property deeded to her unless her husband joins in the deed. If her husband survives her he has a life interest in the whole of her property by right of courtesy. This is analogous to the wife's right of dower; only the wife's dower includes but one-third interest.

Second—Her heirs.

Third—Certainly.]

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria;

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria;

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria;

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

BASEBALL.

The Portlands and the Stars Cross Bats for the First Time this Season, and the Portlands Win.

Yesterday afternoon the baseball season opened formally with a game between the Portlands and the Stars at the Oaks. The score stood; Portlands 12, Stars 9. There was a good attendance—nearly 1000. For seven innings the game was too lopsided to be interesting, the score at the end of the seventh being 12 to 2 in favor of the Portlands. Five safe hits and three errors in the next inning enabled the Stars to score seven runs, three of which were earned. In the second inning each one of the Stars fielders dropped a fly, and these errors, with three scattering hits, gave the Portlands five runs and a commanding lead.

There was some brilliant fielding, and this was overbalanced by some rather bad and costly errors. Glendenning and Timmons did quite as effective work as ever, and both seem to have developed as batters since last season. Bailey, the change pitcher, who played right field, had no opportunity to show his capacity as a player. Fairbairn evidently has not practiced enough this spring, but made two brilliant stops and throws that showed he has not forgotten how to play ball. The remainder of the nine were from "fair to middling."

The Stars felt the loss of Tierney and did not expect to win. Mebus, who occupied the pitcher's box for five innings, did well enough, only two earned runs being made off his delivery. Creegan pitched the remaining three innings effectively, Nagle holding his delivery well. Nagle and Cook did fine work at the bat. Drummond captured three long flies in the field, relieving his costly error early in the game. Henry Marshall filled the position of umpire satisfactorily. Following is

BULL RUN NOTES.

BULL RUN, April 26.

We have run our line through some very fine government land; also through railroad and school lands. The vacant land, however, is not very easy of access, but notwithstanding it is being rapidly taken up.

Talbot, of barometer fame, is building a log cabin near the proposed reservoir site and is clearing off a small piece of land for a garden patch. He did not state whether he would raise vegetables for the market or not.

Old Sol has beamed benignly on us for two whole days, but most of the time the weather has been stormy and bad. We have worked every day but one since we came out and are crowding the work with all possible dispatch.

Our survey is progressing as rapidly as circumstances will admit. We are still in camp at Bull Run, but will move across Sandy in a day or so. We have been camped away up in the hills for a week. The south fork of Bull Run is a splendid stream for trout. We did not have time to try our luck there, but some settlers were up there a day or so ago and caught about 400 fine trout. They (the trout) averaged one pound each, and some of them weighed five pounds. The best way to get there is to go to Stokes by wagon, and from there it is only about a mile to the fishing ground. I caught 210 trout Sunday in a stream near our camp. They were not very large, however, but they made up in flavor what they lacked in size.

BULL RUN, April 29, 1886.

It is evening in camp. I suppose it is evening everywhere else, too, but here it is an especially nice evening, the rain howls and the wind pours, or vice versa; at any rate, something is howling, the tent is flapping and the water is leaking through the tent and dripping on our blankets and the thoughts of turning in to a wet bed are far from pleasant. Such evenings, however, are plentiful on Bull Run. We have one about six times a week, and it is a safe bet that the seventh will be worse than the other six. We have become accustomed to it, but to a believer in Jeffersonian simplicity, it is difficult to overcome a natural antipathy to water, but as we were sent out to hunt for water, we are in duty bound to find it, and providence has kindly come to the rescue and gave us more than we know what to do with.

The farmers in this neighborhood are putting in their crops. The principal staple is peas. They are used for fattening hogs. One farmer near here planted an acre or two yesterday, and this morning before 10 o'clock they were all up and the jaybirds were waiting patiently for him to plant another acre. The jaybirds in this vicinity are noted for their industrious habits; four or five good healthy jaybirds can raise grain as rapidly as a ten-horse power elevator, and stow it between decks as neatly as a longshoreman. Squirrels do not stand a ghost of a show with jaybirds, and the most of them have become discouraged and taken to the hills. One forlorn specimen was seen by a member of our party. It was seated on a rock with a gravestone in its paws, while tears as large as walnuts rolled down its cheeks. He was evidently brooding over the ill-fortune that placed him in the land of jaybirds.

THE KEADY LIQUOR LAW.

To the Voters of Multnomah County: According to the suggestion of E. C. Bronaugh, I hereby pledge myself to the people of Oregon that if I am elected to the legislature I shall work to the best of my ability to procure, and shall vote for, an amendment to the Keady liquor law that will render it as effective as it was intended to be by its originator.

I would also urge upon the state president of the W. C. T. U. the necessity of appointing committees from that noble organization, to be present at the various polling places throughout the state on election day, to work side by side with their brothers in the good cause and I am confident that many votes will be gained thereby.

A lot of 4000 sacks Hawaiian sugar has arrived at St. Louis, consigned to the St. Louis sugar refinery. This is the first installment of a purchase of 4000 tons from the American sugar company of San Francisco.

The London Grocers' Gazette says of salmon: The market is steady, but there are no signs of higher prices; in fact, Liverpool is the turn the other way. We think, however, that values ruling here are quite safe, but we do not anticipate that buyers who have purchased forward at high prices in San Francisco are likely to benefit much. The Liverpool "bull" movement may be regarded as dead, and the trade is to be congratulated that London dealers refused to be led on in that brief period of exaggerated excitement.

Shipments of salmon for the month of April were a total of 2730 cases. None went foreign. In detail the movement was as follows.

| Canner. | San Fran. | East. |
|---|---|---|
| W. Hume | 25 | 722 |
| J. W. & V. Cook | 102 | 322 |
| Cutting Packing Co. | 1000 | ... |
| G. W. Hume | 4 | ... |
| Eureka Packing Co. | 255 | ... |
| Columbia Canning Co. | 300 | ... |
| Totals | 1686 | 1044 |

For the same month last year 6217 cases were shipped, 1712 going to San Francisco and 4505 East.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 4242 ctls wheat, 513 bbls flour, 469 ctls oats, 200 ctls bran, 200 ctls millstuff, 282 sks potatoes, 72 cs eggs, 29 cs butter, 389 sheep. Also 10,174 ctls wheat, 240 ctls oats, 65,411 lbs wool, 11,135 lbs hides, 400 sheep, 17 cattle from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—The market is without life and exhibits nothing of new interest. At San Francisco a vessel has been closed for Gibraltar presumably for an Italian port. Italy is quite a grain buyer now, for of the 125,000 qrs afloat from India for the Continent a good portion is for Italy.

WHEAT—Foreign markets quiet but steady. New York and Chicago advanced slightly with the day's trading, and San Francisco is excited by reports of a corner. To-day's advices are such as to lend new firmness to the local market, although business is so small that the market is slow to recognize telegraphed influences. Receipts are not at all large and the export business drags. As quotations, $1 26¼@27½ for valley and $1 15@16¼ for Walla Walla may be continued, with a possibility that round lots of the last named quality might do a shade better.

The receipts of wheat, and flour reduced to wheat, for the nine months passed of the current harvest season show an increase of 95,180 tons over the same time last season. To date this season 313,994 tons have come forward. The quantity that may arrive in the next three months is an unknown one and must be controlled to quite an extent by prices. For the last three months of last harvest season but 27,348 tons arrived, an average monthly receipt of 9,116 tons. The monthly average for last harvest year was 20,513½ tons, and the average for the first nine months was 24,313 tons. For the current season nine months the average has been 34,-888 tons. The average increase for nine months was then 10,575 tons, and if similar proportion for the next three months be maintained, 59,073 tons ought to come forward, allowing a probable receipt of the average for May, June and July last year of 27,348 tons and an increase of 31,725 tons. If this quantity comes forward there will be a receipt of 373,067 tons, against 246,162 for last harvest season.

FLOUR—The Mallsgate is loaded with 17,828 barrels from the Portland mills, and goes for orders. The market is without new features. Some dealers look for a combination this month.

OATS—Stocks in San Francisco are 3100 tons, against 4300 tons one month ago. Locally a small business is done, but the market is in good feeling and steady at 38@40c.

POTATOES—Not much doing. Values steady at 25@35c for choice.

EGGS—Firmer, at 11@12c. Receipts are easily handled at present, and 12@12½c is looked for with next week.

CHICKENS—Quote $3 00@4 00.

PROVISIONS—Very full stocks; but values are on a good basis and quotations are not changed.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Governments were dull and steady. Stocks were unusually feverish and irregular, with alternate spasms of activity and dullness. The market was controlled almost wholly by news regarding the strikes at Chicago, and these were nearly all of an unfavorable character. Both bulls and bears concede that if the country is to be thrown into general disorder securities must go much lower. While news this morning from St. Louis and from this city was favorable, that from the Northwest was the reverse, and the most serious that has been published since the beginning of the strike on the Southwest system. The lowest prices were reached about half past 1 o'clock, although the market was comparatively dull, the movement was decidedly irregular from that time until 3 o'clock, and in some cases a reaction of nearly 1 per cent was established. The result of the day's operations is however, extremely irregular, several prominent stocks showing little or no change, while a majority of the list is down from ⅛ to ⅝ per cent. The market closed irregular, but about steady for a majority of the list. Comparing prices this evening with those of one week ago, everything is lower. The heaviest decline has been made by New York Consolidated gas, 6¼. Pacific Mail is down 3⅜. Total sales for the week were 1,522,068 shares, against 922,845 last week.

Mining shares were dull and strong. Father DeSmet sold at 00@05, Navajo 40, Cala & Virginia $1 40, Bodie $1 20, Sutro Tunnel $1 15.

RELIGIOUS MEDITATION.

Outline of a Sermon Delivered at Calvary Presbyterian Church by the Pastor, on Sunday Evening, May 2, 1886.

Genesis xxiv: 63; And Isaac went out to meditate in the field at the eventide." Theme, "Meditation." Religious meditation, with a set purpose, at a set time and in a set place, is the teaching of the text. Now observe:

I. The necessity of religious meditation. We live in a fast age. Our very life currents seem to be electric in their eddies and flowing. Great mercantile transactions, which used to take weeks in maturing, are now conceived and consummated in a very few moments.

Legislative and executive bodies now transact business in a period of time, that for its brevity, would astonish our forefathers, were they alive.

The editions of our daily newspapers, THE OREGONIAN, for example, are planned and executed and sold in a very short space of time, and furnish us with a striking illustration of the way we live and move to-day. The conditions of living are vastly different to-day from what they were a half-century ago.

In this age of triumphs in the arts and sciences, when a man can be transported across this wide continent in four days' time, and when, in a single moment, he can send a message to Europe or Asia, or can make his voice heard for miles, the whole tendency of life is to move with lightning rapidity, nay, even to waste itself by its accelerated activities. Hence the tension put upon every man, on merchant, statesman, lawyer, editor, and minister, yea on all classes, is extremely severe.

In a word, we live in a hurry, and of course the tendency is to pray in a hurry, to read scripture in a hurry, and to sing God's praises in a hurry.

The final outcome of all this surely must be soul-starvation, unless corrected in time. Hence the necessity of religious meditation, for—

First—It puts a brake upon all inordinate desire and ambition.

Second—It slackens the speed of our whirling vital machinery.

Third—It oils, as it were, the running gear of our living, and relieves it of that wearing friction that makes men and women old at 50 years.

Fourth—It provides for us an opportunity to look around and see whither we are going, and how.

By religious meditation we secure a chance to cultivate our spiritual natures and prepare our immortal souls for their final destiny of never-ending felicity.

Religious meditation is not an idle occupation. It is not revery. Revery is aimless dreaming. Meditation is thought tending to an object. Religious meditation is religious thought tending to a religious object; is, in a word, the sanctified soul turning to God to be like him.

Therefore, my hearer, I beg of you to cultivate the opportunities and the habit of religious meditation, if you would be saved for time and eternity.

II. Every one should have a chosen time and place for religious meditation. The text says, "And Isaac went out to meditate in the field at the eventide." He had time and place. "In this act," says St. Jerome, "Isaac is a type of him who went out into a mountain apart to pray." And who can fully estimate the degree of strength he acquired by our blessed Lord and master to help him meet the last great struggle of his heroic life! Christ's chosen time for meditation was the midnight hour; his chosen place was the mountain solitude or the desert.

Our Lord also enjoined this choice of time and place upon his disciples, when he said: "But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet." Meditation on our Lord's work of atonement, on the love of God therein displayed, on the possibilities of the future life through faith in Christ as the only savior from the power, guilt and doom of sin; on any of the fundamental truths of the Christian religion, stirs up the spiritual fires within, hence should be cultivated as a habit rather than be left to spasmodic impulse. The choice of time and place for regular religious meditation will create and foster this habit. But observe:

III. The moral and spiritual purpose of religious meditation. Among these purposes are the following:

First—To encourage prayer.

Second—To impel us nearer to the divine. That charming hymn, "Nearer, my God, to thee," etc., could spring only from a heart meditating on the wonders of divine love.

Third—To inspire and sustain the habit of sound and thoughtful reading.

Religious meditation stimulates the mind to crave the best mental food. This is furnished by the best books, the first of which is the holy bible.

Fourth—To teach an introspective, as well as a prospective habit of thought.

As prospective, religious meditation serves to fix the eye and heart on God in Christ. As introspective, religious meditation serves to disclose a man to himself, hence very often it undeceives a man as to choices and actions, which otherwise would go unwittingly right down into the pit of his own destructive corruption.

Then, too, there are certain moral problems affecting a man's present condition and final destiny which a habit of meditation alone can help him to work out. For examples I cite the problems of personal purity, of temperance, of self-culture, both intellectual and spiritual and of personal salvation, and indeed the whole religious life.

In conclusion, I ask you: "Are you concerned at all in the welfare of your soul?" If you are, and you ought to be, then I beg of you to stop a while amid the hurry and rush of this eventful and pushing age, and meditate in thoughtful, contemplative, religious meditation on all the great facts of redemption and salvation as given in God's word, and which, one way or another, affect most seriously your destiny in the future world, and God speaks to you as he spoke to Joshua of old—"This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein; for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success."

Purify Your Blood.

Your blood may be laden with impurities, but Hood's Sarsaparilla will thoroughly cleanse, enrich, and vitalize it. The most severe cases of scrofula salt rheum, boils, pimples,—in fact all affections arising from impure blood, yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. It also cures dyspepsia, billiousness, sick headache, kidney and liver complaints, sharpens the appetite, and builds up the whole system.

Charles O. Roberts, East Wilson, N. Y. had 13 scrofulous sores on his face and neck. Nothing helped him till he took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which effected a complete cure. His druggist says it is "A Great Victory" for Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I have been troubled with scrofulous humor and sores breaking out all over my body for the last fifteen years. I have taken four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has entirely cured me. I recommend it very highly to any one troubled with scrofula or any blood disease." HENRY BIGGS, 1819 Campbell street, Kansas City, Mo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used with perfect success in our family for canker in the stomach and impure blood. My little one is entirely cured, and we shall continue its use as a family medicine." MRS. E. E. BURTON, Somerville, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of blood poison." W. H. BARR, Steubenville, Ohio.
